FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NSi TEAMS UP WITH EDG

Strengthening Sales Forces and Sharing Expertise

Dayton, OH. – November 4th, 2014 - Newspaper Solutions, LLC (NSi) is pleased to announce a newly established strategic alliance with Electronic Design Group Inc. (EDG). The move is intended to bolster NSi's automation and control's offering with access to EDG's automation and drives expertise. EDG is known in the industry for retrofit solutions for Press Drives, RTPs, Conveyors and other equipment.

This agreement will augment EDG's sales force utilizing NSi's "feet on the street"; acting in a Manufacturer's Rep capacity. In addition, EDG will have access to 40+ years of NSi's production operations, press and post press experience which includes Heidelberg/Goss upgrade expertise. The partnership will open up opportunities for single width, double width and commercial operations and for all post press equipment enhancements for Harris, Heidelberg, Goss and GMA/Muller equipment.

"Coming from our Goss and Heidelberg equipment background, we are familiar with many of the choices newspapers are looking at as their operations transition. The arrangement with EDG is a natural extension of what we offer today, reliable solutions at good value. NSi is well positioned to open doors and generate interest in EDG's automation solutions. We see it as a Win-Win opportunity." states Doug Gibson, President, Newspaper Solutions Inc.

"We welcome the opportunity to leverage our newspaper industry relationships and are excited about joining forces with the highly respected experts at NSi. Having the experienced and knowledgeable sales team onboard with EDG makes both our offerings stronger." says EDG's Dave Bast, Director of Business Development.
